

Final Golf Course Plans Voted for Victoria Park

Final plans and specifications for the construction of a new 18-hole County Golf Course at Victoria Park have been approved, reports Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

The County Board of Retirement has been requested to call for construction bids. No property taxpayers' money is involved, since the Retirement Board is like a bank account for County employees.

The Retirement Board is an independent agency which administers funds set aside from County employees' pay checks for their retirement. It will build the course under a plan initiated by Supervisor Hahn in 1954.

AT THAT time, Supervisor

Hahn succeeded in having the Retirement Board finance the Western Avenue Golf Course which was threatened with subdivision. In the last 12 years Western Avenue has proved one of the most popular golf courses in the Nation and has paid for itself from green fees.

"In exactly the same manner, Victoria Park's golf course will be built and will pay for itself while providing additional facilities for the thousands of golfers in Los Angeles County," Hahn said.

THE SUPERVISOR pointed out that the Victoria Golf Course, a driving range, and with numerous sand traps and hazards to make the course a challenge to professionals and duffers alike.
